For any Mac software company, a software product that brought in $50 million per year would be viewed as a fantastic success.. But in the rarified world of the Microsoft Office team, such a product would be considered a dismal failure.. Microsoft ceased development of IE for Mac in July 2003 Given that there is no new development for IE for Windows (because of the release of Microsoft Edge in 2015), there is no chance at all for a future release of IE for Mac.
